The Sunrise Coast

Amelia Island to the Atlantic beaches, then the Overseas Highway to Key West.

Trace the Atlantic through the marshes of Fort George Island, a shipwreck keepers' station and the dunes of Cocoa Beach. Save room for the seafood counter, the launch gantry and an ocean sunrise.

Where to stop along the way

Amelia Island to Mayport · Allow a day for the museum, plantation and ferry. Carry a picnic for the crossing.

Mayport to Matanzas Inlet · Save a half day for St. Augustine on foot. Take the free Fort Matanzas ferry when it is operating.

Flagler Beach to the Space Coast · Allow most of a day for the visitor complex. Make the lighthouse a separate morning.

Cocoa Beach to Hutchinson Island · Start at Lori Wilson Park if you want an ocean sunrise and a free county parking lot.

Jupiter to South Beach · Allow two days to walk the gardens, linger at Manatee Lagoon and reach South Pointe on foot.

Key Largo to Lower Matecumbe · Give this leg a day if you want a museum visit and a long lunch. Look for designated parking before turning.

Marathon to Big Pine Key · Park before taking bridge photographs. Drive slowly on Big Pine Key and watch for Key deer, particularly at dusk.

The Lower Keys to Mile Zero · Give Old Town an unhurried half day. The lighthouse and road sign make a walkable last pair of stops.

Free breaks and low-cost days

Mussallem Beachfront Park · Free beach entry · public restroom

Fort Matanzas · Free admission and ferry · public restrooms

Lori Wilson Park · Free county parking · beach restrooms and showers

Juno Beach Park · Free beach entry and park parking · pier charged separately

Manatee Lagoon · Free admission and on-site parking

Anne’s Beach · Free public beach · restrooms · limited parking

Check operating hours and local signs. A free entrance can have paid parking, and a free beach can have a ticketed pier.

SUNRISE COAST / LEG 1

Amelia Island to Mayport

Drive. Begin in Fernandina Beach. Head east to the ocean, then take A1A south via American Beach, the Nassau Sound bridge and the marsh islands. Kingsley Plantation is a side trip on Fort George Island. The St. Johns River Ferry carries vehicles for a fare. If it is out of service, use Heckscher Drive to I-295 over the Dames Point Bridge, then return east toward the beaches on Atlantic Boulevard.

Allow a day for the museum, plantation and ferry. Carry a picnic for the crossing.

SEAFOOD COUNTER

Timoti’s Seafood Shak

Food for purchase

Start a few blocks off the Amelia River, in Fernandina’s old port town. A basket of shrimp makes more sense here than a long lunch on the highway. Timoti’s lets a group order at the counter, settle outside and take its time over the first meal of the trip.

Look at the catch and preparation choices before ordering. Save the beach for after lunch: from downtown, head east across the island, then turn south on the coastal side. The riverfront you started on and the Atlantic shore are two different sides of Amelia.

Photo stop. Frame the cottages along North Third Street from the sidewalk.

21 North 3rd Street Fernandina Beach, Florida 32034

BLACK COASTAL HISTORY

A.L. Lewis Museum

Museum admission

In 1935, Abraham Lincoln Lewis and the Afro-American Life Insurance Company helped create American Beach as an ocean resort for Black families during segregation. At the museum on Julia Street, the story moves from the people who vacationed here to those who fought to keep their community intact.

Allow time for MaVynee Betsch’s part of the story. Known as the Beach Lady, she spent decades preserving the place her great-grandfather helped establish. Look at the museum hours before leaving Fernandina. The surrounding streets are a living residential neighborhood.

Photo stop. Use the museum sign for your location shot. Ask before photographing objects inside.

1600 Julia Street, Fernandina Beach, FL 32034

SLAVERY AND COASTAL AGRICULTURE

Kingsley Plantation

Free historic grounds on operating days

On Fort George Island, the arc of former slave cabins comes before the riverfront house. The walls contain oyster shell, a local material used to make tabby. The arrangement of the cabins, work spaces and planter’s house tells you whose labor made a river plantation possible.

Start with the cabin interpretation and give the grounds time on foot. The National Park Service posts access days and building availability separately. Return to the signed highway and check the vehicle ferry before committing to the Mayport crossing.

Photo stop. From the marked path, include several tabby cabin walls in a single frame.

11676 Palmetto Avenue, Jacksonville

SUNRISE COAST / LEG 2

Mayport to Matanzas Inlet

Drive. From Mayport, follow Mayport Road to Atlantic Boulevard and the beach towns. Continue south on A1A through Ponte Vedra Beach and Vilano Beach. Cross the Vilano bridge into St. Augustine. Leave downtown by the Bridge of Lions and follow A1A down Anastasia Island to Fort Matanzas.

Save a half day for St. Augustine on foot. Take the free Fort Matanzas ferry when it is operating.

FREE SAND AND REST STOP

Mussallem Beachfront Park

Free beach entry · public restroom

A narrow piece of barrier island separates the Atlantic from the Intracoastal Waterway north of Vilano. At Mussallem, leave the busy Coastal Highway and follow the beach access to the water. This is an easy place to put down a phone, take off your shoes and hear the surf.

St. Johns County lists parking and a restroom. Use the signed parking area and the designated crossing or walkover. On a multi-stop day, this is the beach break to take before heading over the bridge toward the streets of St. Augustine.

3350 Coastal Highway, St. Augustine, FL 32084

SPANISH COLONIAL FORT

Castillo de San Marcos

Paid fort admission

From the inlet, the fort looks low and deliberate. Its coquina walls are made of tiny shell fragments, and its projecting bastions gave defenders a view along each face. Walking the waterfront first makes the fort's position at the entrance to Spanish St. Augustine much easier to read.

An entrance ticket takes you inside the fort. Leave time for the upper gun deck when it is accessible, then return to town on foot. Downtown parking is separate. For the next coastal stretch, cross the Bridge of Lions toward Anastasia Island.

Photo stop. Stand on the public bayfront for the stone bastions; include the waterline for scale.

11 South Castillo Drive, St. Augustine

HISTORIC FERRY AND FREE REST STOP

Fort Matanzas

Free admission and ferry · public restrooms

There are two very different forts on this stretch. Here a small outpost guarded the southern water approach to St. Augustine. The river crossing explains its purpose in a way a roadside view cannot: the tower sits across the water on Rattlesnake Island.

Pick up a free boarding pass at the visitor area when the National Park Service ferry is running. Space is limited and weather can interrupt service. The mainland grounds make a worthwhile break even if the boat is full. This passenger ferry does not carry your car.

Photo stop. Photograph the low watchtower across the Matanzas River or from the passenger ferry.

Visitor center and ferry pickup, 8635 A1A South, St. Augustine

SUNRISE COAST / LEG 3

Flagler Beach to the Space Coast

Drive. Keep A1A through Flagler Beach and the Daytona area. Ponce Inlet is an out-and-back from Dunlawton Avenue. Return west on Dunlawton to US 1. New Smyrna Beach and the Apollo side of Canaveral National Seashore are optional coastal spurs. No public through-road crosses the seashore. Take US 1 to Titusville and SR 405 for Kennedy Space Center. Leave via SR 3 and SR 528 toward Cape Canaveral.

Allow most of a day for the visitor complex. Make the lighthouse a separate morning.

LOCAL SEAFOOD AND FISH MARKET

Flagler Fish Company

Meals and seafood for purchase

Flagler Beach is a good place to stop letting the road choose your meals. This seafood restaurant also operates a fish market, so a group can sit down to eat or pick out something for a kitchen farther along the trip. Ask what is available that day.

Use the South Ocean Shore Boulevard address on the listing. Older recommendations may send you to the former downtown location. After lunch, use a signed public beach crossing for a look back at the low-rise town from the ocean side.

Photo stop. Use the oceanfront streetscape for your picture and keep the restaurant entrance clear.

1224 South Ocean Shore Boulevard Flagler Beach, Florida 32136

WORKING MARITIME LANDMARK

Ponce Inlet Lighthouse

Paid museum admission · climbing optional

At the southern tip of the Daytona barrier island, a red brick tower rises over the former keepers' quarters. The museum's lenses make the light itself worth understanding: glass prisms turn a small source into a beam strong enough to guide a ship.

Allow a longer stop if you plan to climb. The keepers' buildings give nonclimbers a visit of their own. Ponce Inlet ends the ocean road here. Drive back north to a mainland bridge before continuing toward New Smyrna Beach.

Photo stop. From ground level, set the red tower against the keepers' buildings. You can get the shot without climbing.

4931 South Peninsula Drive Ponce Inlet, Florida 32127

SPACEFLIGHT · NEWER ATTRACTION

Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex

Paid admission · bus access to the Gantry

The Gantry at LC-39 opened to visitors in 2025. It adds a view of the launch complex to a museum day that can otherwise be spent looking up at rockets indoors. From the observation level, the flat marsh and the distant launch structures belong in the same photograph.

Reach the Gantry on the visitor complex's bus tour. There is no public drive through the launch pads to Cocoa Beach. Budget most of a day if you want the bus and the main exhibits, and check for launch-related changes before setting out.

Photo stop. At the Gantry, use the marked observation area to put the launch landscape behind you.

Guest entrance on Space Commerce Way, Merritt Island

SUNRISE COAST / LEG 4

Cocoa Beach to Hutchinson Island

Drive. From Cape Canaveral follow A1A through Cocoa Beach, Melbourne Beach and Sebastian Inlet. Reach the Sebastian museum by the Wabasso causeway and US 1, then retrace the spur to A1A. At Fort Pierce Inlet cross the North Causeway to the mainland, take US 1 south and return east on Seaway Drive to South Hutchinson Island. The House of Refuge is on MacArthur Boulevard.

Start at Lori Wilson Park if you want an ocean sunrise and a free county parking lot.

DUNES AND ATLANTIC SAND

Lori Wilson Park

Free county parking · beach restrooms and showers

At this Cocoa Beach park, the change from the hotel strip to the ocean happens in a short walk. The dune vegetation holds the foreground while the Atlantic opens in front of you. It is a particularly good stop for a sunrise if the park's opening hours suit the season.

Use the marked crossovers from the parking area. Restrooms make it a practical pause between the Space Coast and the long barrier-island drive south. Brevard County lists free parking. Leave any dune flowers or nesting areas undisturbed.

1500 N Atlantic Ave Cocoa Beach, Florida 32931

SHIPWRECK HISTORY

Mel Fisher’s Treasure Museum

Paid museum admission

In Sebastian, objects recovered from wrecks put the Treasure Coast name in human terms. Coins and cargo were once part of ships, voyages and livelihoods. Look at how a single object was identified and conserved before moving on to the larger displays.

The museum is on mainland US 1. Cross from the barrier island at Wabasso and make the short trip north to the museum, then retrace to return to A1A. It is a sensible weather-day choice when wind makes the beach less inviting.

Photo stop. Choose a close-up of an exhibit detail where photography is permitted. Flash can hide more than it reveals.

1322 US Highway 1 Sebastian, Florida 32958

SHIPWRECK RESCUE STATION

House of Refuge at Gilbert’s Bar

Museum admission · check access

Before this coast had a road lined with hotels, a shipwreck survivor might have come ashore here to find shelter and supplies. The House of Refuge on Hutchinson Island preserves that story in a keeper’s home close enough to hear the sea. The Historical Society reopened the house after restoration for its 150th anniversary in 2026.

Make time to look at the rock below the house from a safe overlook. It helps explain why this stretch was dangerous to approach from the water. Leave waves and wet rocks out of your footing, especially when a swell is running.

301 SE MacArthur Boulevard Stuart, Florida 34996

SUNRISE COAST / LEG 5

Jupiter to South Beach

Drive. Leave Hutchinson Island by the Stuart causeways. Use US 1 past inland gaps and pick up signed beach roads in Jupiter and Juno. Singer Island ends at Lake Worth Inlet. Use Blue Heron Boulevard to the mainland, then the Flagler Memorial Bridge for Palm Beach. Follow A1A where signed. There is no car crossing at Port Everglades inlet. Use the mainland connection between SE 17th Street and Dania Beach Boulevard. From South Pointe, turn west over the MacArthur Causeway and join US 1 toward Florida City.

Allow two days to walk the gardens, linger at Manatee Lagoon and reach South Pointe on foot.

FREE BEACH BREAK

Juno Beach Park

Free beach entry and park parking · pier charged separately

At Juno, you can see the length of the pier from the sand without buying a pier ticket. The beach park has restrooms and places to wash off. The open Atlantic horizon makes this an especially good choice for the first light of the day.

Use the county beach parking area and the marked crossing. The pier has its own operator, admission and repair notices. Decide whether you want to walk onto the deck after you have seen the view from shore.

Photo stop. Keep the pier to one side of the frame at sunrise so the horizon stays visible.

14775 U.S. Highway 1 Juno Beach, Florida 33408

WILDLIFE OBSERVATION AND FREE REST STOP

Manatee Lagoon

Free admission and on-site parking

The warm-water outflow beside the power plant draws manatees during cold weather. From the deck you can watch the water change from a dark shape to a back, nostrils and a ripple. On warmer days the exhibits explain the animals even when none come into view.

The center offers free admission and parking. Plan around its opening days and treat a sighting as a possibility. This mainland stop fits between the inlet towns and Palm Beach; stay on the public observation deck.

Photo stop. From the observation deck, wait for a manatee’s nose or the rings it leaves on the surface.

6000 N Flagler Drive West Palm Beach, Florida 33407

ARTIST’S ESTATE

Bonnet House Museum & Gardens

Paid admission

A studio, courtyard and tropical grounds survive just inland from Fort Lauderdale Beach. Bonnet House tells the story of artists Frederic and Evelyn Bartlett through the rooms they lived in and the landscape they kept around them.

Leave time for both the house and the grounds. A short look at the courtyard gives a different sense of the city from the towers visible along A1A. Check entry arrangements before you park, particularly if you want the interior tour.

900 N Birch Road, Fort Lauderdale

BEACH, INLET AND PUBLIC RESTROOMS

South Pointe Park

Free park entry · local parking charges may apply

Miami Beach ends in a park where an oceanside stroll becomes a view down Government Cut. Freighters, tugs and cruise ships can pass close enough to read their names. The promenade works just as well on a quiet day when all you see are the channel markers.

Use the park restrooms and signed beach access, then return to the road for the mainland crossing. The channel has no vehicle crossing here. Photograph from the public path or sand and keep clear of the working waterfront.

Photo stop. From the public promenade, place the ship channel between your camera and the far shore.

1 Washington Avenue, Miami Beach, FL 33139

FLORIDA KEYS / LEG 1

Key Largo to Lower Matecumbe

Drive. Both drives now take US 1, the Overseas Highway, south from Florida City. Mile markers count down toward Key West. Stop in Key Largo, continue to Islamorada and then to Anne's Beach near MM 73.5. Bay and ocean can be on opposite sides of the same narrow island.

Give this leg a day if you want a museum visit and a long lunch. Look for designated parking before turning.

KEYS FOOD STOP

Key Largo Conch House

Meals for purchase

At the upper end of the Keys, the Conch House is a good place to get out of traffic and sit down before the island drive. Its garden setting offers a quieter introduction than rushing straight to the next bridge. Ask what seafood the kitchen is serving today.

The address is on the Overseas Highway in Key Largo. Give the entrance your attention in advance; U-turns and last-minute stops are a poor way to find a restaurant on this road. Check service times before building a meal around the stop.

100211 Overseas Highway Key Largo, Florida 33037

UNDERWATER EXPLORATION

History of Diving Museum

Paid museum admission

Long before modern scuba equipment, working underwater could mean carrying a metal helmet and depending on air from the surface. This Islamorada museum follows the problem of breathing underwater through a remarkable range of suits, helmets and apparatus.

Look for design changes that solved one problem while creating another, such as weight or mobility. It is an indoor stop on US 1, which makes it easy to fit between beach breaks or move to a rainy part of the day.

Photo stop. Compare the shapes of diving helmets in one frame where indoor photographs are allowed.

82990 Overseas Highway Islamorada, Florida 33036

FREE KEYS BEACH AND REST STOP

Anne’s Beach

Free public beach · restrooms · limited parking

On Lower Matecumbe Key, the water stays shallow for a long distance and the mangroves come close to the road. A boardwalk connects small pockets of shore and picnic space. This feels very different from an Atlantic surf beach, especially when the tide leaves little exposed sand.

Use the designated parking areas at mile marker 73.5 on the oceanside. The north end has the restroom. If the lot is full, continue to another stop. The Overseas Highway shoulder is not a substitute for a parking space.

Overseas Highway at mile marker 73.5, Islamorada, FL 33036

FLORIDA KEYS / LEG 2

Marathon to Big Pine Key

Drive. Follow US 1 through Marathon. Stop at the Turtle Hospital and the Marathon end of the Old Seven Mile Bridge before taking the modern highway bridge. Continue to Big Pine Key. Turn north onto Key Deer Boulevard for the Blue Hole, then retrace the detour to US 1.

Park before taking bridge photographs. Drive slowly on Big Pine Key and watch for Key deer, particularly at dusk.

WILDLIFE REHABILITATION

The Turtle Hospital

Paid guided visit · reservations recommended

In Marathon, an old motel became a hospital for injured sea turtles. The guided visit gives the rehabilitation pools a purpose beyond viewing wildlife: each animal is here for care, and the goal for releasable patients is a return to the sea.

Reserve a tour time before building the rest of your day around it. Current patients and care needs determine what visitors see. This stop and the old bridge are close enough to do together without another long run along US 1.

Photo stop. Ask the guide where photographs are permitted. Give recovering animals space and skip the flash.

2396 Overseas Highway Marathon, Florida 33050

OVERSEAS RAILWAY HISTORY

Pigeon Key

Island visit ticketed · old bridge walk is separate

Pigeon Key housed workers who helped build Henry Flagler’s Overseas Railway. From the old Seven Mile Bridge the island looks small enough to miss, which makes the scale of the bridge work more striking. A visit brings the workers’ buildings and the railway story together.

Use the official visitor center for island tickets and the departure point. A walk on the publicly accessible stretch of old bridge is a different outing. Park on the Marathon end, check access and take water; the exposed bridge has little shade.

Photo stop. From the pedestrian bridge, put the old rail alignment and the newer highway bridge in the same view.

1090 Overseas Highway Marathon, Florida 33050

FREE WILDLIFE OVERLOOK

Blue Hole, National Key Deer Refuge

Free refuge access · short detour

North of US 1 on Big Pine Key, a former quarry holds an unexpected patch of freshwater habitat. The Blue Hole observation platform lets you look for turtles, birds or an alligator without walking to the water's edge. A wildlife sighting is never guaranteed.

Follow Key Deer Boulevard for roughly three miles from US 1 and slow down throughout the refuge. Small Key deer can appear at the roadside. Use the platform and designated parking; give animals room and keep food in the car.

Photo stop. From the observation platform, photograph the water framed by limestone and vegetation. Give wildlife the right of way.

Key Deer Boulevard, Blue Hole observation trail, Big Pine Key, FL 33043

FLORIDA KEYS / LEG 3

The Lower Keys to Mile Zero

Drive. Continue west on US 1 through the Lower Keys. Follow the signs for US 1 into Key West, park once in Old Town and finish on foot. The lighthouse is on Whitehead Street. The END US 1 sign stands at Whitehead and Fleming streets.

Give Old Town an unhurried half day. The lighthouse and road sign make a walkable last pair of stops.

MARITIME HISTORY

Key West Lighthouse & Keeper's Quarters

Paid museum admission · climb optional

After following lighthouses down the coast, finish with a tower that stands among the roofs of Old Town. Key West's light and keepers' quarters tell the story of the people who maintained a warning system for ships approaching the reefs.

Visit the quarters even if you skip the climb. From here, leave the car parked and walk along Whitehead Street toward the end of US 1. The short walk connects a seafarer's landmark with a modern road traveler's one.

Photo stop. From the grounds, put palms around the tower. From the top, look for the line between rooftops and open water.

938 Whitehead Street Key West, Florida 33040

FREE FINISH AND STREET PHOTOGRAPH

U.S. 1 Mile Marker Zero

Free sidewalk stop · Old Town parking varies

Both coast routes finish at the corner of Fleming and Whitehead streets. After the bridges and open water of the Keys, the road ends at an ordinary city intersection. That contrast is the pleasure of the last photograph: a green road sign can stand for the whole trip.

Park legally and walk to the sign. Check which direction the sign faces before composing your shot and stay on the sidewalk. If you are traveling with someone, trade cameras here so each of you goes home with a finish-line picture.

Photo stop. Stand on the sidewalk at Whitehead and Fleming and get the END US 1 sign in the frame. Let traffic pass.
